The organisation allows third parties to connect clients to its backend.

The organisation allows third parties to connect devices to its backend.

The organisation grants third parties the same functional scope on the backend as its own clients.

The organisation allows third parties to communicate directly with its devices without going through the backend.

Interoperability

Interoperability

Interoperability

Interoperability

Interoperability

Interoperability

I   nteroperability

Interoperability